We drive on to Cataract Gorge, which is located in the Trevallyn Reserve, where the South Esk River, the longest river in Tasmania, enters the Tamar. The basin's depth is approximately 36 metres, established through erosion at the intersection of two faults, where dolerite rock shattered.

This afternoon, we transfer to Cradle Mountain. At the base of Cradle Mountain, in deep depressions cut by glacial action, lies Crater Lake, Dove Lake and Lake Lilla. Cradle Mountain - Lake St Clair National Park covers some of Tasmania's highest country and is renowned for its magnificent alpine scenery.

This evening, we enjoy a wildlife spotting tour, the perfect chance to see Tasmania's nocturnal creatures in their natural habitat. Keep your eyes peeled for wombats, pademelons, wallabies, possums, quolls and Tasmanian devils as they forage at night.

After lunch at the hotel, we transfer to a unique Tasmanian conservation sanctuary, which is home to the endangered mysterious and secretive Tasmanian Devil, Spotted-tail and Eastern quolls. We will enjoy a private tour and up-close encounter learning about Tasmania's three largest carnivorous marsupials and their conservation.
